GIRL STUDENTS OF HORTICULTURE MOVE INTO NEW DORMITORY

Success of the School at Ambler Has Been Proved by Product of Gardens Covering 70 Acres.

Students of the School of Horticulture for Women of Ambler, Po. 18 miles from this city today are removing their belongings, as well as themselves, from collages they have hitherto occupied to the new dormitory building recently compieted in connection with the school,

The construction of the new building marks a notable milestone of progress In the history of the school, one of the very few of its kind in America, where healthy, wholesome, outdoor-loving American siris are learning the art of raising vegetables, plants and flowers as a profession and a means of earning their livelihood.

Horticulture is a business in which women are said to have proved more successful than man. By their patience, delicacy of touch and disposition the girls succeed in fostering the growth of tender products of the soil better than Alleged Breach of Contract to Be Heard in Federal Court.

Heard in Federal Court.

Lagana & Co., shipping agents of Palwrmo, Italy, yesterday filed a libel in admiralty in the United States District Court, against the Italian steamship, Rosalla, and her owners Societa Anonima di Navigozione, of Venice, to recover 1200,100 for alleged breach of contract of a charter. The Rosalla, which is loading grain for Italy at Girard Point, will be released when the respondents file a bond in the sum of $15,000, the amount of the slipulation yesterday fixed by Judge Thompson.

The action is similar to one brought

The action is similar to one brought two weeks ago by the same libellants egainst the steamship Prudenza, a sister ship of the Rosalia, in which $150,000 is sought for the same alleged offense. It appears that since the beginning of the war, charter rates have increased enormously, with the result that charters which were made at the normal rate, are troken, the charterers taking a chance on recovery for breach on contract, and in the meantime resping the benefit of the high rates now prevailing. high rates now prevailing.

The nephew's story was almost as thrilling as that of the old man. He had spent his days at sea on steamships mostly. Once he had been shanghaled and had almost been killed by the mate for trying to escape when the ship first put into port. He later had taken part in a mutiny against the captain and mate of this same ship. They put the officers in irons, he said, and he and another young sailor aboard, who were the only ones of the sailors who understood navigation, sailed the ship to a small port in A Danish cuss word is indeed a wondrous thing, especially when thundered from the throat of a deep-chested sailor. At all events it has strange powers. It was the means today of introducing William C. Miller, 60 years old, a sailor from Copenhagen, Denmark, to his nephew. Charles Fredrickson, 29 years old, also of Copenhagen. Neither was aware previously of the other's exist-

Yesterday they met on unromantic Front street, 4500 miles from their boyhood home. For a few days they are living at 202 Spruce street hoping to put to sea on board the same ship.

Their meeting was by the merest chance. The old sailor, just arrived from Alexandria. Egypt, was going up Front street. The sea roll was not yet quite out of his legs, and he was not overspry finished the boy.
